

COMPANY PROFILE

FiberCop is the infrastructure company owned by TIM (58%), KKR Infrastructure (37.5%) and Fastweb (4.5%) and aims to digitize Italy through the development of fiber optic connections with technology Fiber-to-the-Home (FTTH), with connection speeds up to 1 Gbit/s.

The offering portfolio includes a wide range of access services with which licensed operators can build their own networks and services for their end customers.

FiberCop will build a new ultra-high-capacity fibre-optic network infrastructure by 2025, an objective that involves more than 2500 municipalities and the main Italian industrial districts, to ensure the Country's full digital evolution. The project, first in Europe, is based on a model of co-investment "open" to the entry of all interested operators and will reach over 16 million real estate units.
